

Mary Ridder Cherny Fund

What is the Mary Ridder Cherny Fund?

The fund was established by Mary Agnes Ridder Cherny's family to honor her commitment to her family, vocation, and students. She died November 10, 2005 when the effects of cancer claimed her life.

As a young child, Mary, or Agnes or Aggie to her friends and family, showed signs of talent in music which was greatly encouraged by her parents. Piano was her first love and she started taking private lessons. She blossomed into an accomplished violinist and also learned to play the oboe and cornet. She graduated college with a music education degree. Mary taught private music lessons to youngsters, accompanied her students on piano, and performed in various bands and orchestras. Throughout her life, she never abandoned her love of music.
